

CONGRESS IN FLAMING REVOLT AGAINST FDR Americans Raid Mariana Islands

Jap Positions South of Tokyo Heavily Bombed

Other Jap Islands Blasted from Air

By CHARLES H. MCMURTRY

UNITED STATES PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, Feb. 23 (AP)—Japan's Mariana Islands, 1,300 miles south of Tokyo, were raided yesterday by hundreds of planes of a strong Pacific fleet task force, presumably the same American force that made the first attack of the war on Truk last week. The same admiral was in command of both.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced the action today, the first American attack on the mandated Marianas, and disclosed that Rear Adm. March Mitscher commanded the carrier force in its two-day assault on Truk, Japan's naval bastion, in which nineteen Japanese ships, and probably seven more, were sunk.

Parry Island Captured
Nimitz also announced the conquest of Eniwetok atoll, in the Western Marshall Islands, was completed Tuesday with the capture of Parry Island.

Other mid-Pacific actions Nimitz made public were coordinated land-based attacks on Ponape and Kusaie air bases in the Carolines; a navy plane attack on Nauru Island and continued army and navy plane assaults on unidentified Marshall Islands still held by the enemy.

The daring foray into the Marianas took American warships about 100 miles closer to Tokyo than they were in their lunge at Truk. The attack centered on Saipan and Tinian Islands at the southern end of the group of some fifteen volcanic islands.

Radio Silence Imposed
Saipan, most important enemy base in the Marianas, is 120 miles north of Guam. American island captured by the Japanese in December, 1941. As in the strike at Truk, detailed information was lacking, due to the necessity of imposing radio silence for protection of the vessels in the striking force.

The communique said the task force "struck Saipan and Tinian" islands, indicating the attack lasted but one day, or a portion of it. (Continued on Page 13, Col. 3)

German Airplane Plants Bombed

New Air Assaults Making Progress

By W. W. HERCHER
LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP)—American heavy bombers from Italy fought through massed German fighter planes today to blast two important airplane factories at Steyr, Austria, and the United States Strategic Air Force headquarters here announced the campaign against the sources of German air power had gone so far in four days that from now on every enemy shot down constituted a "vital contribution" toward ending the war.

After three days of gigantic assaults, the American heavyweights in Britain stayed at home today, with only medium and fighter bombers of the tactical forces continuing the daily pounding of German Europe from the west.

Hammer Nazi Factories
The four-engine American bombers based in Italy, having hammered two Messerschmitt factories at Regensburg, Bavaria, yesterday, roared over the Alps again in a 1,000-mile round-trip to smash the two Messerschmitt and bearing plants at Steyr, ninety miles west of Vienna.

Realizing the long-range peril to their overall war effort, the Germans sent single-engine and twin-engine fighters against the Liberators, and claimed they downed thirty-eight American planes.

Returning airmen said the Germans, many of whom were shot down, were at least seventy-strong and the most aggressive yet met. They dropped "flaming bolts of fire" at the bombers. These were believed to be time-fused bombs intended to break up formations. Flak was moderate.

Campaign Succeeding
The announcement from strategic air force headquarters left no doubt of immense progress in the campaign which the Americans began months ago to destroy German fighter plants and planes, a campaign which has been climaxed by the gigantic onslaughts that began only last Sunday.

Victory for Marines:

All Western New Britain Captured By Americans, MacArthur Asserts

By ROBERT EUNSON

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Thursday, Feb. 24 (AP)—All western New Britain is in American hands, with the juncture of marines from the North coast and Sixth Army troops from the south, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

The meeting of the two forces culminated a campaign which began Dec. 15, when the army troops landed at Arawe peninsula, and received impetus when the marines came ashore at Cape Gloucester, Dec. 26.

All organized enemy resistance has been cleaned out of the area west of a line running from Rotto bay on the north coast then southeast, to Arawe on the south coast, MacArthur's communique said.

He estimated that around 7,000 Japanese troops had been killed in the fighting which was hottest and fiercest in the area.

New Nazi Drive Likely in Italy

Germans Prepare To Hit Beachhead

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, Feb. 23 (AP)—Badly hurt but still full of fight, German forces are gathering themselves to lash again at the stubborn defenders of the Allied beachhead below Rome, according to a bloody battle-ground indicated today.

Across the comparatively flat Roman's land ringing the 100-square-mile beachhead, Field Marshal Albert Kesselring's divisions could be plainly observed even by Allied ground troops as they rearranged themselves for a third head-on smash at the offending bulge in Italy's coastline.

Big Guns in Action
This squaring-off for another round between two tough, well-matched and equally determined armies was accompanied by a raging artillery duel, with long-range Nazi guns raking the entire beachhead hour after hour and hundreds of Allied field pieces throwing steel into the enemy's concentrations.

Kesselring, with eight divisions at his disposal, was able to maintain light but steady pressure around the entire perimeter of the beachhead. Yesterday American troops holding positions west of Cisterna, at the deepest point of Allied penetration, hurled back two localized attacks.

Bombers Resume Attack
Flying Fortresses and Liberators of the Fifteenth Strategic Air Force, relieved at least temporarily of the necessity of helping defend the beachhead, resumed their long-distance campaign against German military with a destructive attack on the Messerschmitt plane works at Regensburg, but light and fighter bombers of the Twelfth Tactical Force maintained the assault on Kesselring's ground forces.

Allied heavy bombers also pounded an enemy air field at Zagreb and harbors at Zara and Sibenik in Yugoslavia. In all, Allied planes of the Mediterranean force flew about 1,600 sorties yesterday, while Nazi activity over the beachhead amounted to 130 sorties.

Hammer Nazi Factories

most prolonged in the marine capture of the Cape Gloucester airfield, four days after they landed, and in the leatherneck's subsequent fight for Hill 660, where the marine veterans of Guadalcanal soundly licked the Japanese.

Other Japanese casualties were among troops of the Seventeenth division, commanded by Lt. Gen. Swao Matsuda.

The American invasion troops at Arawe were dismounted Texas cavalrymen and Idaho field artillery, units of Lt. Gen. Walter Krueger's Sixth Army, commanded by Brig. Gen. Julian Cunningham of Washington, D. C.

London Attacked On Large Scale

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP)—High flying German planes conducted an hour-long raid against London tonight for the fourth straight night and the twelfth time this month.

Bombs were dropped on some districts of the British capital and in a southeast coast town. There were casualties and damage. It was announced that at least four enemy planes were downed.

Germans Fly High
The German planes tonight appeared to be at a higher altitude than those which came over last night and provoked the most intensive barrage of the war from London's anti-aircraft guns. Ten were knocked down by the terrific flak umbrella last night.

From the Budapest radio came a story that London was being attacked by stratosphere bombers and that the Germans were using a powerful new high explosive bomb filled with a substance called "K" and nicknamed "Fat Emma."

Ground Forces in Action
A resident of one residential area described the latest German foray as "heavy" and said the Nazi planes apparently again were intent on spreading fires. A barrage from the ground defenses growled out almost immediately after the alert was sounded.

Numerous flares descended like slow-motion sky rockets and accurate anti-aircraft fire knocked some of them out of the sky. Flashes of shell bursts were seen at the tips of great cones of light thrown up by searchlights.

An RAF commentator said today that about 175 German bombers were sent against Britain last night and that possibly 100 reached the London area.

Martin To Build
Great Air Freighters
BALTIMORE, Feb. 23 (AP)—The twenty flying boats to be constructed by the Glenn L. Martin Company on the pattern of the seventy-ton Mars will have a lifting power from 140,000 to 145,000 pounds greater than the Mars, company spokesmen said today.

The original Mars was designed as a patrol bomber, while the twenty new ships to be built for the naval air transport service will be aerial freighters.

Kirke L. Simpson Says:
Russian capture of Krivoi Rog, last Nazi bastion in the depths of the Dnieper bend, may lose on the German high command a new flood of disaster fully warranting Marshal Stalin's declaration that the Hitler regime "is advancing inevitably toward catastrophe."

There are plain portents of this in the German situation along the whole south flank of the eastern front. The fall of Krivoi Rog, throwing the Nazi forces back to the southwest apparently for a new stand behind the already out-flanked Ukrainian Bag river line, could well prove the beginning of the end for Germany in Southern Russia, in Rumania, and in the Balkans.

Important as Krivoi Rog was to the Nazis for its iron and other war minerals, its military value in sustaining the whole Nazi Ukrainian front was even greater. The wide Dnieper itself afforded it security from the south in the spring flood period just ahead.

On the north flank of the German Ukrainian wedge now toppling back from its Krivoi Rog apex, however, Russian deployments in force on a front nearly 500 miles long from Krivoi Rog northwestward to Lutsk in southeastern Poland has sinister possibilities for the retreating Nazis. That is the southern flank of the hugely expanded Kiev bulge. Along it stand three or more Ukrainian armies threatening every Nazi route of retreat from the southern Ukraine including the Odessa-Tarnopol-Warsaw rail trunk line. The Russians are no more than twenty to forty miles from that railroad for a distance of nearly 200 miles.

Dewey Declines To Be Candidate In Wisconsin

Refuses To Enter Primary Contest

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey, mentioned as a Republican nominee for president, asked today that his name be withheld from the Wisconsin primary election of delegates to the Republican national convention.

The request, expressing "strongest disapproval," was made in separate telegrams sent by the governor to twenty-four candidates who filed today at Madison, Wis., petitions for election as supporters of Dewey at the April 4 primary.

Consent Not Required
Consent for use of Dewey's name, however, is not required in Wisconsin.

Dewey repeatedly has said he is not a candidate for the Republican nomination but many supporters believe he might be drafted by the convention, especially if a deadlock develops.

"I understand that petitions for your election as a delegate running in my name have been filed at Madison," the governor wired each of the Wisconsin candidates.

"The use of my name meets my strongest disapproval and I earnestly hope you will withdraw the petition filed for you."

"I appreciate the interest you have evidenced and I am sure I can rely upon your friendship in according to my request."

Telegraphs State Senator
The telegram was released by the governor's office along with another (Continued on Page 13, Col. 3)

Soviet Forces Gain in Ukraine

Capture Railway
Junction of DNO
By TOM YARBROUGH
LONDON, Thursday, Feb. 24 (AP)—Soviet forces fighting toward the northern communications center of Pskov broke into the streets of Dno, railway junction sixty-four miles to the east, and also advanced to a point forty-four miles from the northeast yesterday, while in the south Ukraine the Red army counted 6,000 Nazis killed and considerable booty captured near Krivoi Rog, Moscow announced today.

180 Localities Freed
More than 180 localities, including Strugi Krasnoye, on the Leningrad-Pskov railway, were captured and more than 2,500 Germans were killed in the northern fighting, said the Moscow communique, recorded by the Soviet monitor from a broadcast.

On the approaches to Krivoi Rog, the iron mine town won by the Russians on Tuesday, the Russians captured sixteen tanks, over 100 guns, 600 machineguns, 7,000 rifles, 600 trucks, 170 wagons and other military stores. Material captured inside the town itself was still being counted, the late bulletin said.

Reds Continue Advance
Meanwhile, the troops of Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky pressed on after the Germans and captured several communities west and north-west of Krivoi Rog, the Russians said.

In the north the Russians, who have advanced eastward fifty miles in six days, made a 10-mile advance in the past twenty-four hours to begin the fight for Dno. One force reached the city after clearing a portion of the Leningrad-Vitebsk railway northeast of Dno. Other units to the southeast reached Semenovskhina, thirty-four miles from Dno.

"In the course of the day's fighting over 1,500 Hitlerites were wiped out," the late bulletin said. "War material was captured and many German officers and men taken prisoner."

Measles Spreading In West Virginia
CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 23 (AP)—Measles appeared to be spreading in West Virginia, the State Health department noted today after officials in twenty-four counties reported that 496 persons were stricken with the malady in the week ended February 19.

There were 380 cases in the period ended February 12, and only twenty-one cases in the week ended February 13, 1943, the department said.

JOIN ANTI-ROOSEVELT PROCESSION

Sen. Alben W. Barkley

Rep. Robert L. Doughton

Vociferous ovations greeted statements in the Senate and House yesterday by Sen. Barkley and Rep. Doughton that they had broken with President Roosevelt. The two leaders are among the last of the big name men who started out with Roosevelt. They join James A. Farley, Raymond Moley, John N. Garner, Harry Woodring and scores of other Democrats who for various reasons have dropped off the Roosevelt bandwagon.

Democratic Senators Congratulate Barkley on Break with Roosevelt

McKellar, Byrd, Overton and Others Predict Senate Will Re-Elect Majority Leader Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Senator Barkley (D-Ky.) drew the jubilant approval today of Southern Democratic senators, with some of whom he has been at odds from time to time, by his fervent denunciation of President Roosevelt's veto of the tax bill.

First to congratulate him was Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.) who sits at his left, and who, Barkley disclosed later, did volunteer service as "copy boy" during a critical stage in the address.

McKellar had blamed Barkley for his "arrest" a few years ago when the sergeant-at-arms of the Senate called at his hotel in response to Barkley's efforts to produce a quorum during a successful southern filibuster against a bill to repeal poll tax voting qualifications on eight states.

Senator Byrd (D-Va.) his beaming countenance reflecting his pleasure, hung on every word as Barkley began his address.

At one stage it began to appear that the typewritten pages of the speech were moving to the Senate chamber too slowly—only seven pages had been typed when Barkley began.

McKellar conferred briefly with him and slipped out of the room to return with a couple more.

"Senator McKellar volunteered to keep the copy coming," Barkley asserted.

Senators Overton (D-La.), Maybank (D-SC), Eastland (D-Miss.) were among the first to predict Barkley's unanimous re-election to filibuster against a bill to repeal pol tax voting qualifications on eight states.

Barkley, Doughton, Break With Roosevelt in Fight Over Tax Measure Veto

President Asks Majority Leader To Reconsider Resignation; Doughton Charges White House Seeks To Dictate to Congress and Says "Here Is Where I Part Company with the President"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Confronted with a flaming revolt in Congress, President Roosevelt tonight pleaded with Alben W. Barkley not to go through with his resignation as majority leader of the Senate.

In a history-making speech earlier in the day, Barkley, long-time administration wheelhorse, had broken with the president and announced his resignation as leader in a bitter protest against the veto of the $2,315,000,000 tax bill.

Tonight, the president, out of the city at an undisclosed place, sent a telegram which was delivered to Barkley's home by Presidential Secretary Stephen Early.

PRESIDENT'S TELEGRAM

It began "Dear Alben" and said "I sincerely hope that you will not persist in your announced intention to resign." It added that if Barkley did resign, the president hoped his colleagues would either refuse to accept the resignation or else unanimously re-elect him. The latter course is what some of the senators are planning to follow.

The president told Barkley he was wrong in believing that the veto message attacked the integrity of members of Congress.

"Such you must know was not my intention," Mr. Roosevelt declared.

"With the many serious problems daily confronting us, it is inevitable that at times you should differ with your colleagues and differ with me," the president continued.

EXPRESSES CONFIDENCE

"I am sure that your differing with your colleagues does not lessen their confidence in you as leader. Certainly your differing with me does not affect my confidence in your leadership nor in any degree lessen my respect and affection for you personally."

Barkley's speech was a symptom of spreading rebellion in the Senate over the veto message in which the president called the tax bill much too small and said it was a relief bill for the "greedy."

DOUGHTON JOINS REVOLT

In the House, Rep. Doughton (D-NC) 80-year-old chairman of the tax-writing Ways and Means committee, declared in effect that the president was asking Congress to accept dictation. That is "where I part company with the president of the United States," said Doughton.

Many other members joined Barkley and Doughton in their stand, and administration men freely predicted that the veto would be overridden.

Applause for Barkley
Deafening applause rolled through the staid Senate chamber as Barkley, who had supported Roosevelt through thick and thin for twelve years, shouted that the president was guilty of making inaccurate statements and of a "deliberate and calculated assault upon the integrity of Congress."

For years, he said, he had "carried the flag of Franklin D. Roosevelt" sometimes with little help from the White House—but he could not "take this unjustifiable assault lying down."

Re-Election Probable
Democratic colleagues immediately laid plans to re-elect Barkley as leader tomorrow—an action which would emphasize the president's loss of control of a legislature where his word once was law.

Politicians tonight were trying to gauge the tremendous political potentialities—the effect upon the 1944 campaign—of the stunning split between the president and the man who keynoted the 1932 Democratic convention and likewise worked for the second and third terms.

As for the immediate future, Barkley called a caucus of Democratic senators for 10:30 a. m. (est.) tomorrow, when the question of electing his successor will arise.

Several colleagues predicted Barkley's re-election would be virtually unanimous and from the house side Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, majority leader there, said "I hope he's re-elected. It would be a fine thing."

An hour and a half after the caucus the House will take up the question of overriding the president's veto and enacting the revenue bill into law despite the chief executive's disapproval. With Rep. Doughton conducting a vigorous campaign for the measure, there were strong prospects the veto would be overridden.

"Dear Alben" Resigns
Barkley—the president's "Dear Alben" of past contests at the capital and on the political hustings—gave the Senate one of its memorable dramas of many years in announcing his resignation.

Emotionally wrought, his voice frequently breaking, he told his colleagues, with reference to the veto message, that it was "the first time during my long service, which I have thought was honorable, that I have been accused of voting for a bill that would extend relief to the greedy and impoverish the needy."

"Others members may do as they please," he said. "I do not propose to take this unjustifiable assault lying down."

Concluding, he shouted:

"If the Congress of the United States has any self respect left it will override this veto and enact this tax bill into law."

Senate in Uproar
Although Senate rules forbid there was a roar of applause when Barkley finished. From both Republican and Democratic sides, senators hurried to shake his hand. Only a few remained seated.

Vice President Wallace was in the presiding officer's chair when Barkley finished.

Aberdeen To Make More "Duck" Trucks

ABERDEEN PROVING GROUND Md., Feb. 23 — (AP) — Lt. Col. Edward Gray, chief of the automotive division at the Aberdeen proving ground, said today that on the basis of past battle achievements, army ordnance department would step up production of amphibious trucks.

Battle reports from the Mediterranean and Southwest Pacific theaters contained highest praise of the six-wheeled two and a half-ton amphibian truck, popularly known as "the Duck," Col. Gray added. The sea-going truck has an overall length of thirty-one feet and is eight feet wide and seven feet high.

Amphibious trucks handled a big part of the tonnage at the Nettuno beachhead just south of Rome and played a prominent role at Salerno, in the early days of the Italian campaign, bringing food, water, gasoline and other supplies to help the infantry blast the enemy from the beaches.

The Pot Calls the Kettle Black

ONE of the most glaring instances of the pot's calling the kettle black is that wherein President Roosevelt assailed the Congress in his tax bill veto message.

The president has a case, to be sure, but the force of his stinging rebuke is weakened by the fact that he does not come into court with clean hands.

The Congress did botch the new tax measure, heaping Pelion upon Ossa of confusions and uncertainties in a verbose concoction that were better as a rubbish heap. "The American taxpayer has been promised of late," the president said, "that tax laws and returns will be drastically simplified. This bill does not make good that promise. It ignores the most obvious step toward simplifying taxes by failing to eliminate the clumsy Victory tax." Mr. Roosevelt is dead right about that.

The vetoed measure is the very antithesis of simplification; and if anybody doubts it, let him take a look at one of numerous instances wherein the Congress is put to shame in framing the measure. This is from Section 127 of the bill as reported to the Senate by its Finance committee, which is probably no less understandable in the completed measure and perhaps more complex and ambiguous if any amendments were made on the Senate floor or in conference. Here it is, and as a sample of asininity it is tops:

SEC. 127. RELIEF IN THE CASE OF EXCESS DEDUCTIONS OF ESTATES AND TRUSTS

(a) In General.—Section 162 (d), relating to deductions in computing the net income of estates and trusts, is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new paragraph:

(4) Excess Deductions.—If for any taxable year of an estate or trust the deductions allowed under subsection (b) or (c) in respect of any income which becomes payable to a legatee, heir, or beneficiary and which would not otherwise be deductible except through the application of paragraph (2) or (3) (A), exceed the net income of the estate or trust (computed without the deductions allowed by subsection (b) or (c) by reason of paragraph (2) or (3) (A) of this subsection and without any deductions that would be allowed only if the deductions allowed under subsection (b) or (c) by reason of paragraph (2) or (3) (A) were not allowed) for such year, to the extent of such excess the amount of such income shall not be required to be included in computing the net income of such legatee, heir, or beneficiary under subsection (b) or (c). In cases where the amount of such income becomes payable to two or more legatees, heirs, or beneficiaries, the amount which shall not be required to be included in computing the net income of any such legatee, heir, or beneficiary shall be limited to that proportion of such excess which the amount of such income which becomes payable to such legatee, heir, or beneficiary bears to the aggregate of such income which becomes payable to legatees, heirs, or beneficiaries."

If that isn't enough to make one dizzy, it would be interesting to know what would. Why taxpayers should be required to wander through such God-awful labyrinthian mazes is beyond the comprehension.

So much for the kettle; but what of the pot? The president is much to blame for the intricacies and complexities of the tax measure because it was he who insisted upon botching the Ruml plan by including an unjust arrerage tax, which was unwarranted in changing the period of computation of the tax from one year to another. He could long since have brought about elimination of the Victory tax and its inclusion in the other tax, but permitted his following in Congress to leave it separate with its added complexities. And nobody has ever heard the president talking about tax simplification except as an echo of demands first and long since made by others.

The sharp words in the veto message indicate something else besides proving the application of the ancient saying noted. It shows that the cleavage between the Congress and the executive is growing wider, step by step, other recent steps having been the controversies over the soldier-vote and subsidies. This growing cleavage should have a bearing on the coming elections.

Those who say that the fourth-term election of the president is necessary in order that foreign policies may be carried out without interruption and hindrance quite overlook the essential support the executive must have from the Congress. All indications point to a stiffening of congressional opposition to the executive and all who run and read can easily foresee that Republican representation will be increased in Congress by the fall elections. But if a Republican were elected president, there would be a cooperative and sympathetic Congress to support the executive and thus to speed the whole program of foreign relations and the prosecution of the great global war program.

The Problem of Those Without a Country

THE MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY often has been featured in song and story. His plight was presumed to be hopeless. None was more entitled to sympathy than the person who had no flag to protect him.

A global war has increased the number of unclaimed men, women and children to a figure between 1,000,000 and 2,000,000. If the first figure is the correct estimate, there is hope the problem may eventually be solved. If 2,000,000 is nearer the correct figure, interallied refugee authorities admit they can only shiver with dismay.

Thousands of these now are in the United States and will pose a pretty problem for the State department when the war is over. These are peoples who literally have had their countries shot out from under them. They have no national status, having been forced to leave native lands after being repudiated as citizens of those countries.

They have no passports. United States immigration authorities, not too well informed on the subject, are keeping what information they possess secret to discourage unfavorable comment on the administration's immigration policy.

In recent years there has been a tightening of immigration quotas for the United States, and there is certain to be opposition to a general letting down of bars to give citizenship to these refugees. Much will be heard of the problem of these refugees in postwar years.

There is, however, a brighter side to the problem. When the war ends as it must end in victory for the Allies, the countries from which these unfortunates have been exiled will again have their national status and thus they will be restored to their nationalities with opportunity to return to their old homes and build anew.

Two Points Citizens May Well Ponder

SPEAKING IN Congress hall, Philadelphia, before the Philadelphia chapter of the Sons of the Revolution, Chief Justice George W. Maxey, of the Pennsylvania State Supreme Court, said that "anyone who declares that government can and should provide freedom from want and freedom from fear is either an ignorant or a fraud."

"Freedom from want," he explained, "is not a gift of government at all, and it is a gift of God only to the extent that the recipient cooperates, for God helps only those who help themselves."

Chief Justice Maxey also expressed himself as favoring "forty-eight self-governing commonwealths in place of a totalitarian state controlled by a permanent occupant of the White House."

Two points well worth pondering by the American citizenry.

That British newspaper which criticized one of the potential presidential candidates must be under the impression that were lend-leasing our election campaign arguments, too.

Our curbstome philosopher thinks it would be a fitting gesture if the conquering Yanks renamed that archipelago the General George C. Marshall islands.

An economist suggests money be made elastic. Having just paid his bills, our curbstome philosopher thinks it ought to be made more adhesive, too.

I Could Be Perfect, but--

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I know a lot about raising children properly. I have read dozens of books on the subject. I have done much thinking about it, too. I used to get rather good "marks" in school; so at least I have a good memory, regardless of what you may think of my intelligence.

So I know about children. . . I used to be one of them and I think I remember what it was like.

I know what they should eat. I know how much sleep they should have. I know how they should be treated.

I have a fair idea of what goes on in their minds and what they think of grown-ups. I am not always sure about that, however.

I know that what they say should be heard respectfully and that they should be treated with consideration.

I know that children like to know where they stand; they like a definite "no" or "yes."

I know that parents shouldn't fuss and nag. They should treat their children as rational human beings. They should not allow small irritations to annoy them. They should keep promises and be their children's friends.

Their homes should be really HOME for the young people, where the truth can always be told and where the child will be at ease.

In fact I know a lot about what a parent should be and I know more, much more, than I have set down here.

BUT--

But my knowledge is far greater than my ability to perform. I know a lot but I don't do a lot. I could be perfect but you can ask any of my children if I AM. . . I'd rather not be there when you ask them.

Wallace Misses Underlying Point, Paul Mallon Says

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Vice President Wallace's erudite speech to the Ohio Wesleyan conference flew so high into the stratospheric philosophy of someone named Hegel et al. that it missed many front pages and few citizens got what he was driving at.

But it really presented what might be called the Wallace philosophy, perhaps even an official administration idea of the post-war world, boiled down, it comes to this:

Russia is progressing from communism to democracy.

Our democracy is progressing in the opposite direction toward communism. We should meet at a place called "X"—and on that spot, a postwar world should be built.

Now, do not immediately conclude that this is a strained simplification of the Wallace philosophy, or that it is altogether unreasonable. It is true, for instance, that Stalin, has been working away from Marxian communism. The Russian system today is more of a socialist than a communist state.

New Deal Direction

On the other hand, the New Deal has proudly proclaimed its mild advance from democracy as we used to know it. Toward socialism (Tennessee Valley Authority and various government enterprises of ownership and operation, and, to a lesser degree, the collectivist socialist philosophy of the taxation policies, A. A. A., N. Y. A., social security, etc.).

Nor can there be any question about Mr. Wallace's hope that such progress, both in Russia and the United States, will continue, for he says:

"The future well-being of the world depends upon the extent to which Marxismism, as it is being progressively modified in Russia, and democracy, as we are adapting it to Twentieth century conditions, can live together in peace."

"Old line Marxismism has held that democracy . . . serves the cause of the common man with platitude, rather than with jobs, and that it is weak."

"And we who believe in democracy must admit that routine science, invention and technology have provided us with new battles into many of which we have not yet poured the wine of the democratic spirit. . . Democracy must be tremendously more efficient than it has been in the service of the common man and in the resistance to selfish group pressures."

In the Same Boat

If this seems so indefinite as to be confusing to you, you are probably in the same boat with Mr. Wallace. While he sees definitely the direction in which he wants to go, he cannot yet define where "X" is to be. He does not know how far we are to go toward Marxismism, and therefore, cannot write the specifications in a clearer way that would be understandable to the general public.

All this sounds like it came out of a book, a very big book, and no doubt much of it did. Mr. Wallace's tramp back through the history of philosophy to prove that the German Hegel and the German Marx are the original philosophers of both fascism and communism may possibly be true.

But no citizen needs a book to see that Mr. Wallace has some- where missed the whole vast difference between the Russian and American systems. Leaving all high philosophy aside, the man in the street knows what Russia stands for, and he knows what America stands for, and therefore, he knows there is a sea between them more vast than any ocean on the map.

For one thing, the kind of socialism Stalin represents is totalitarian. Democracy is anti-totalitarian. Stalin's socialism is not that of freedom of the common man, but dictatorship by the worker. Our form of government is against dictatorship by any group, worker, farmer, or rich.

Foiled by Reading Books

It seems clear that Mr. Wallace has fooled himself by reading all

Baruch Plan Gets Off to a Good Start But Hurdles Loom in Government Split

By MARK SULLIVAN

Transition of the country's economic structure, from war production to the normal functioning of peace time, as planned by the Baruch report, has got under way in a manner to create confidence. The early appointees to key positions in the mechanism are of a sort to beget favorable expectations.

Mr. William L. Clayton, who is to dispose of the immense stocks of surplus goods of all kinds that will be in the government's hands when the war ends, is especially equipped for just this kind of job. By experience as head of a great cotton trading and export corporation, he knows how best to feed surplus materials owned by the government back into the channels of private business in the way most favorable to both government and industry. Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, who has the corresponding job of transferring some ten million soldiers from occupation in war to jobs in industry, has had over twenty years experience in the related work of Veterans' Administration. These two tasks—transferring goods and men from war to peace time industry—compose the basic function of what the Baruch report aims to do.

Obviously, Mr. Wallace had better consult Stalin and Churchill about that, because Stalin is a realist, if nothing else, and he knows, if Wallace does not, that his progress toward socialism and ours still leaves us so far apart as not to be anywhere near adjacent.

This does not mean that the United States and Russia cannot live in complete peace with each other and in full friendliness in a postwar world each with its own internal political system. He can co-operate on a mutual basis of self-interest to keep peace in the world.

Half-Way to Hitler

We simply cannot, for practical political reasons if no other, reach Mr. Wallace's "X" which seems to be half-way to communism, and seems to me to be half-way to Hitler.

A more democratic doctrine for the postwar world was suggested by Ohio's Governor Bricker, in a largely unnoticed speech the same day. He counseled a policy of "live and let live" in the truly democratic and Christian spirit for all nations, little and big, in the post-war world—but protecting ourselves strongly at home.

At any rate, we can at least be clear now as to the cause of our confusion about the postwar world. Our leaders do not know yet where they are going. They do not know where "X" is. Naturally, they cannot define it with sufficient clarity to let anyone else become wholly unconfused.

Lawrence Views Tax Bill Veto as A Major Blunder

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—President Roosevelt has precipitated an unfortunate and wholly unnecessary crisis in constitutional government in the midst of war. His veto of a tax bill on which both houses of Congress worked for several months is a blunder of major proportions—far beyond the issues in the tax legislation itself.

For the issue is whether Franklin Roosevelt has not outlived his usefulness both as a party leader and the leader of the nation on the home front. The veto message instead of being a political asset for his fourth-term campaign will become a political liability for the president.

This development will be regretted by millions of citizens who favor the president's foreign policies but who see the big impetus Mr. Roosevelt has given to anti-administration elements which are unfriendly both to the foreign and domestic policies of the president.

In other words, Mr. Roosevelt is making precisely the same mistake that Mr. Wilson did in 1918. Mr. Wilson disregarded the wishes of his party leaders at that time and scorned their advice. He didn't heed the protests of the people on domestic issues but submerged himself in foreign policy and lost touch with the same trends of public opinion.

Advised by Best Friends

The best friends and most loyal supporters Mr. Roosevelt has on Capitol Hill advised him not to veto the tax bill but to let it become law, even without his signature if necessary, and with a message outlining his criticisms.

The veto message is full of inconsistencies and will not stand objective analysis. It is true that there are some provisions in it which benefit the rich and the selfish. It is true that there are provisions which ought never to have been put in the tax bill. But this can be said of almost every major piece of legislation that reflects a compromise and it is the solemn duty of the president to register his protests to his party leaders and make an issue of the objectionable things while the bill is pending in committee or before either house or while it is in conference. Mr. Roosevelt has seen fit to transmit his views on specific items on other bills before they reached final stages and he could have done the same with respect to the tax bill.

Bad Effect Either Way

The episode shows that Mr. Roosevelt does not get along even with his own party on Capitol Hill and if the veto should be overridden it will be proof that he has lost the confidence of many members of Congress. On the other hand, if it is not overridden it will mean that a few votes more than a one-third minority can block legislation and that the majority does not rule in Congress even on a matter of levying taxes which is by the constitution given to Congress as a specific power.

While the presidential veto was intended to check Congress it has never been used to interfere with the judgment of Congress on tax measures. Mr. Roosevelt may be a stickler for the literal right to veto but he will encounter another form of veto if he had feeling between the executive and legislative is intensified. It is the veto of a one-third bloc in the Senate which may refuse to allow treaties to be ratified. The presence of this one-third bloc in the Senate has been deplored by many observers, including the writer, but if Mr. Roosevelt persists in using a one-third minority of one house to block a tax bill he will be knocking the props from the argument that Congress should surrender its two-thirds rule on treaties while the president retains his insistence on a two-thirds rule on such matters as tax legislation.

Ultimate Motive Suspected

The country cannot readily learn in the present crisis who is right and who is wrong. Under a parliamentary system of government such as exists in Canada, the executive or the legislative can be held responsible. Under our present system—or rather the abuse of presidential veto power under our present system—neither the executive nor the legislative can be held responsible for the loss of $2,300,000,000 in revenues and the muddle into which the whole tax situation has been thrust overnight.

It will be said that Mr. Roosevelt vetoed the bill so the provision requiring labor unions to make an accounting to the United States Treasury would be prevented from becoming law. It seems incredible that such a reason could influence the president but there are so few reasons which logically support Mr. Roosevelt's snub of his own party leaders and their work that his opponents will constantly point to that reason as the real motive behind the message. Mr. Roosevelt made a big mistake. Congress could save him from the consequences of his error by overriding the veto.

Lions Club Ladies Night Party Is Gala Event

Termed One of the Best Parties Ever Held by Local Organization

The Cumberland Lions Club "Ladies Night" held Tuesday evening at the All Ghan Shrine Country Club was the biggest event of its kind in Lion history since the 1936 Capitol district convention held in Cumberland, W. D. Timmons, president, reported. There were 178 Lions and their ladies with forty-two from the Mt. Savage club; eighteen from the Ridgeley club; and one from Hagerstown.

The entertainment in the nature of a "cast party" with all taking part began with a game, "Cherio," with Larry Cesena in charge. This was followed by a quiz consisting of forming as many words as possible from "Lions Service Ideals." J. K. Snyder was in charge and awarded the prize to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Conway of Mt. Savage. Mrs. Jane Snyder and P. E. Myer were in charge of the game, "Pantomime," consisting of "wisdom and satire," to be presented by guests when called upon.

The guest of honor was Prince Nuraldin of Bagdad, portrayed by Harold Fletcher, with occult replies to questions asked by the audience. This was followed by an international milk bottle race in which five Lions acting as infants, and portraits of Roosevelt, Mussolini, Stalin, Hitler and Mahatma Gandhi took part. The Rev. Frank Schrader acted as master of ceremonies. Mrs. French Sensabaugh assisted at Chester Chouhounour conducted a truth and consequences game. They were attired in a George Washington costume. A near riot was caused.

A battle of the sexes in song, was the grand finale of the program. Mrs. Helen Vandegrift led the ladies in song and Joseph Trenton, the men.

A tribute to Lions in service, French Sensabaugh, Chester Chouhounour, Ernest Hutchenson and Frank Martin, was paid by Harold Fletcher. Lynn Lashley was appointed chairman to send scrolls notated by those present, to these men.

G. A. Rehbeck and W. D. Timmons arranged the program, timing and sequences.

Divorce Awarded $4,000 Heart Balm

BALTIMORE, Feb. 23 (P)—A Baltimore divorcee, who testified she hid in the trunk of her husband's automobile while he made love to another woman, was awarded $4,000 by a jury today in a $10,000 alienation of affections suit.

The verdict was against Mrs.

Jean A. Landsman who did not attend the trial. James H. Mace, Mrs. Mace's former husband, who appeared as principal witness for the defendant, denied the auto trunk episode, stating that his car was in a garage at the time and he was driving a borrowed automobile which had no trunk.

Mrs. Mace, who obtained a divorce last fall, told the jury that she once threw a brick into Mrs. Landsman's home after she saw her husband inside. She testified that she had received several broken ribs in a tussle with Mrs. Landsman on another occasion.

Farmers To Get Ration Stamps at Banks

BALTIMORE, Feb. 23. — (P)—Farmers who sell rationed meats and processed foods may obtain supplies of ration tokens at banks in preparation for the new ration point system which will become effective Sunday, state Office of Price Administration headquarters announced today.

J. William Eggleston, state rationing officer, said that farmers who are registered as primary distributors of rationed foodstuffs may obtain supplies of tokens with which to make change in the same way retailers obtain their supplies.

Farmers who have no stamps on hand, or who have less than 250 points in surrendered stamps, Eggleston said, may apply to the War Price and Rationing board with which they are registered for supplies of ration points.

He said that boards had been authorized to supply as many as 250 points to such primary distributors. A certificate which the farmer will exchange for ration tokens will be issued by the rationing board.

IS THE FEED SHORTAGE OVER?

The answer, in all probability, is "No."

Corn is the key to the whole feed situation. Midwestern hogs can still pay more for corn than the ceiling price set by Government order. And there are still enough hogs in the Corn Belt to eat up the rest of the 1943 corn crop. Nearly half of the crop is already gone.

Southern States grain buyers, along with other grain handlers, predict that the flow of corn to the market will freeze up again within 60 to 90 days. Even if the market becomes favorable, corn growers do not generally move their corn during the busy planting season. That season is just around the corner and reserves of corn are practically gone.

Last May, when corn went off the market, mixers turned to barley, oats and wheat. There is no such "out" this year. We simply do not have the barley or the oats or the wheat.

Members of Southern States Cooperative must protect themselves in the event of another disruption in feed service.

What Farmers can do

Starting immediately, farmers can build up and keep a 30 to 60 day supply of feed right on the farm. This will prove to be a valuable cushion when and if feed service is interrupted by shortages of corn or other ingredients. Southern States Cooperative Service Agencies are now geared to help you build up the farm feed inventory. They may not be able to help you do it later.

As poultry mashers are fed, they should be drawn from the oldest pile to insure the proper vitamin content for the poultry.

Attention should be given seriously to growing more grain and grass forage on the farm. Pullets, as well as cows, can benefit from a leafy succulent range which saves feed costs. Every measure must be taken: First, to build up a feed backlog and Second, to produce more home grown feed to stretch purchased feed further.

Quadruplets Born In Alabama; Three Die

DECATUR, Ala., Feb. 23 (P)—Physicians and attendants at Benévolo hospital fought tonight to save the life of the last of four babies born yesterday to the wife of a paratrooper.

"Dianne, the only one still alive, is doing fairly well at present and hasn't had any trouble so far," said Dr. T. M. Guyton, who delivered the children. "However, her chances are no better than those of the others."

The babies were born to Mrs. Spencer Edmund Hutto, 23, of Hillsboro, wife of a private attached to a Fort Benning, Ga., paratroop regiment.

The first of the quadruplets to die, Spencer Edmund, Jr., succumbed about 10:30 p. m. yesterday, followed by Yvonne and Sherianne today. The father arrived from Fort Benning shortly before Sherianne died.

Dr. Guyton said death resulted from "general weakness and prematurity."

The first thirteen tanks produced by an automotive factory converted to war production cost an estimated $36,500,000.

Barton Firemen

Russler, a veteran volunteer fireman, congratulated the firemen upon the progress which they had made during the twenty-five years. He advised them to keep up the good work. "As Volunteer Firemen you have but one motive—giving of your time and effort toward the protection of life and property," he said.

Impromptu remarks were made by Mayor A. P. Hoffa, Mrs. Lulu W. Boucher, J. Donald Wilson, Mrs. Myrtle Saville, Gilbert C. Cooling, Alexander Cross, Thomas Mowbray, Maurice Lamberson, D. S. Boal, John Bean, James O. Small and Dr. S. A. Boucher.

Joseph Shuhart, treasurer of the company, presented Mayor Hoffa of Barton, with a check for $750, returning a gift which the town gave the firemen ten years ago.

A "plaque" containing the names of the members of the company serving in the armed forces was presented by Harmon Gaxson, vice president of the company. The plaque, which is very beautiful, was donated by the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, Luke.

The names of the members are—

Joseph Davis, Orlis McCormick, Richard Lamberson, Charles Miller, Louis Lashbaugh, Nelson Inskeep, Edward Brennan and William P. "Barney" Miller.

The closing prayer was given by Alexander Cross, superintendent of the Presbyterian Sunday school.

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

Bob Newcomb was reading me a letter the other day—from his son in the Marines. Dick Newcomb's somewhere in the South Pacific, thousands of miles from home, yet he writes to ask:

"Tell me, Dad, do they still pitch horseshoes back of Ray's? Is Johnny keeping my tools in shape? Are the trout still biting in Seward's Creek?"

Makes you realize what the men over there are thinking about. Sure, they're fighting for Democracy and Freedom and a Better World Tomorrow.

But the things they dream of coming back to are the little simple pleasures that mean home to all of us—like a home-cooked meal, a glass of beer with friends, a game of horseshoes in the backyard.

From where I sit, one of our most sacred obligations here at home is to keep those little things exactly as they remember them—to keep intact the world they're fighting for.

P-T.A. Holds Meeting

H. N. Hansucker, assistant state supervisor of vocational guidance addressed the Parent-Teacher's association Monday evening. His topic was the "School-Community Food Preservation Center" and his purpose was to explain to the organization an opportunity the state board of education was giving the local community.

The state board has about thirty set-ups of equipment for canning centers to be turned over to local groups who will meet the requirements and who really want and need them. Hardy county is being offered one of these set-ups.

The state board will furnish the equipment free with the understanding that the local board will provide a building, install the equipment and furnish supervision through the high school vocational departments. These plants, when in operation cost from $250 to $2,000, depending upon the size and elaborateness of the plant.

After being installed, the people of the community are able to bring their produce and can them at a great saving of labor and time and expense. According to Mr. Hansucker, in many plants the cost to the canner is approximately three cents a can. There is equipment for shelling peas, means of skimming peaches and other equipment to speed the housewife in her canning. The greatest saving in time comes from the actual process itself. He also announced that spoilage was reduced to one tenth of one percent, even in corn, which is considered difficult to can.

The plant is not only used for canning but for dehydrating, for curing meat, pickling and preserving, rendering lard and many other tedious chores.

Theaters

"Flesh and Fantasy"
Showing at Liberty

Like Helen Hayes and Bette Davis, Betty Field is an actress they will never "type."

After a season off the screen during which she played the important real role of mother, Miss Field returned from her Connecticut farm to face the cameras again in Universal's Charles Boyer-Julien Duvivier production, "Flesh and Fantasy." The sensational film is now at the Liberty theater.

By accepting an unusual role in Boyer's trail blazing picture, Miss Field again resisted Hollywood's tendency to put players in roles only where their performances are supposed to follow a past pattern.

Betty's former screen appearances had been as Henry Aldrich's girl friend, as the sultry farm girl in "Of Mice and Men," as a school-girl vamp in Booth Tarkington's "Seventeen," as an Ozark girl in "Shepherd of the Hills" and with Fredric March in "Victory."

Piraeus, port of ancient and modern Athens, was blitzed by Sulla, Roman general, in 86 B.C., and not rebuilt for 1900 years.

LOVE AND REASON WON'T MIX

ALBERT DEKKER, as Marshal "Bat" Masterson in "The Woman of the Town," is trying to get Claire Trevor, who plays the mysterious Dora Hand, to see things his way. Based on a spectacular American legend, this United Artists release opens today at the Maryland theater.

Mystery Gal of Seventies
Is Brought to Screen

Dora Hand, the mysterious night-spot entertainer of Dodge City in 1876, when it was known as the toughest town in the old West, had a dual personality that baffled "Bat" Masterson, the celebrated peace marshal who fell in love with her.

Dora, of good family, had come to Dodge City from Paris where she had tried, unsuccessfully, to carve a niche for herself as an opera singer. Although she seemed at ease and happy in the lurid surroundings of the saloon where she danced and sang nightly, Dora also was quite at home in church on Sundays when she sang in the choir, much to the distress of the conventional townswomen.

Her tragic death by a bullet changed the entire course of "Bat" Masterson's future life, as he promised Dora on her deathbed that he would renounce his job as marshal and return to the career of a newspaperman, which was his earliest ambition.

A film picturization of Dora Hand, played by Claire Trevor, can be seen in the historical romance produced by Harry Sherman, "The Woman of the Town," which opens today at the Maryland theater through United Artists release.

Legislature May Hold Extended Session

By DONALD SANDERS
ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 23.—(P)—The specter of several potential controversies arose today to threaten the expressed hopes of legislative leaders that next month's special session of the general assembly can be kept brief and productive.

Experience of Governor O'Connor's predecessors with special sessions indicates that the chief executive may have a difficult time keeping the legislators' noses to the grindstone—in this instance, soldier voting and the teacher bonus.

Maryland law allows the Assembly, once called into session, to consider any topic it sees fit. In some other states, only subjects outlined in the governor's call may be taken up.

One factor expected to influence the legislators to wind up their job and go home promptly is the fact that they will receive no extra pay. In previous years, members of the

Nazis Reported Active In American Camps

BALTIMORE, Feb. 22.—(P)—Nazi organizations—including the Gestapo—are active in American prison camps and already have executed five non-conformist fellow prisoners and threaten postwar democracy in Germany, a former member of the German Reichstag said today.

Gerhart H. Seger of New York city, editor of the German language newspaper "Neue Volkszeitung," who was thrown into a German concentration camp in 1933 for anti-Nazi activities, said in an interview with newspapermen:

"Already the Nazis are organized in the prisoner of war camps throughout America. Any German prisoner who shows any interest in democracy or America is punished by his fellow prisoners. Five German prisoners have been murdered by their colleagues already.

"The Nazis in our prisoner camps even have organized Gestapo units."

Green-Lucas Bill Backed by C.I.O.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 23.—(P)—The passage of the Green-Lucas (soldier vote) bill in its original form was demanding by local 43, Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America (CIO) in an open letter to Congress today.

"Reactionary," pre-negotiated peace forces," the union declared in a letter signed by three officials, were trying "to confuse the people with false issues."

"They see in the defeat of the federal soldier vote bill the mirage of the possibility of defeating the president's win-the-war and win-the-peace program," the letter added.

It was signed by Walter McManamon, business agent; Paul Cusick, president, and Thomas Connor, chairman of the legislative and political action committee.

Allegany Five Must Top Fort Hill Tomorrow to Remain in City Race

Campers Are Favored but Win for Sentinels Would Give LaSalle the Championship

The Allegany High Campers, needing a victory over Fort Hill to remain in the race for the city scholastic basketball championship, will be favored to turn back the Sentinels when the local rivals clash for the second time this season tomorrow night at 8 o'clock on the Campbell court.

The LaSalle High Explorers, undefeated in three intra-city battles, are assured of at least a tie in the final series standing and will take the crown if the Sentinels should upset the Campers. However, if the Alleganians come through as expected, and then stop LaSalle next Friday night at Campbell, the chase would end in a dead-lock.

Allegany, which captured the Western Maryland Interscholastic League championship earlier this week, bowed to LaSalle, 35-26, and trounced Fort Hill, 41-16, in city series engagements. The Explorers hold two decisions over the Sentinels in addition to their triumph over the West Siders.

Tomorrow's scrap will bring Fort Hill's campaign to a close and will also mark the windup of the WMIL season here. The Sentinels have won eleven of twenty games and clinched the runnerup berth in the loop this week when they trimmed Bruce.

Loop Games at Bruce, Beall

The West Siders have bowed only to LaSalle and Keyser in twenty starts and will be out to complete a perfect WMIL season. In the preliminary at 7 o'clock, reserve teams representing Allegany and Fort Hill will clash.

In other WMIL finales tomorrow, Central High's Flying Tigers, of Lonaconing, will close their season against Bruce at Westernport with Charles "Chick" Jones as the referee and Barton will ring down the curtain by opposing Beall High's Mountaineers at Frostburg with Mel "Newt" Henry officiating.

Keyser High's Golden Tornado quint, which sewed up the Potomac Valley Conference title earlier this week when it came through with its ninth straight loop triumph, will meet the Moorefield High Yellow Jackets at Moorefield and Petersburg will entertain Matias in conference tussles tomorrow evening. The games will bring campaigns to a close for the Yellow Jackets and Matias.

Keyser Meets Beall

Five other contests are scheduled tomorrow. Davis and Parsons will close regular seasons by clashing at Parsons. Romney High's Pioneers will entertain the Handley High Judges, of Winchester, Va. Paw Paw will invade Berkeley Springs for a tilt with the Indiana, Capon Bridge will journey to Port Ashby for the latter's finale and Greenback and Franklin will meet at Franklin.

Writer, Cafe Man Save Sacramento League Franchise

Pair Beats Deadline by Raising $52,000 in 48 Hours

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 23 (P)—An eleven-hour drive by a sports editor and a cafe owner, who in forty-eight hours raised $52,000 and fought off a rival bid of more than three times that amount, has saved Sacramento its Pacific Coast League baseball franchise.

Dick Edmonds, young sports editor, and Yuhli Separovich, cafe man, beat a deadline by hours and snatched the franchise back from Tacoma, Wash., which seemed to have the club sewed up.

League directors scheduled a meeting for yesterday in Los Angeles at which to transfer the club to Tacoma. Edmonds and Separovich started out at 5 p. m. last Saturday and by that hour Monday had called on every sports-minded citizen they knew of. One contributor came through with $20,000. From lawyers, businessmen, bowling alley proprietors and plain baseball fans, checks, cash and pledges came pouring in.

Edmonds and Separovich took their money to Los Angeles, even though they knew Tacoma virtually had the deal clinched. Ten days earlier, Tacoma announced and Sam Breadon, St. Louis Cardinals president, confirmed that Sacramento's franchise had been sold to the Washington city for $50,000. Tacoma had raised $125,000 more to make good the club's operation.

To complicate matters the train to Los Angeles was held up by a snowstorm—but the directors waited for the Sacramentoans. After presenting their case, Edmonds and Separovich went outside to wait the directorial decision. At 7 p. m. yesterday it came, in favor of Sacramento.

The home folks plan a parade for the two winners when they get back tomorrow.

It will be the first meeting of Spinner and Green Lantern quints. Shober cagers, setting the pace with seven straight victories, topped the Chemists 39-22 earlier in the season and the merchants hold a 39-21 decision over the Woodmen.

ROMNEY, W. Va., Feb. 23 — The Romney High Pioneers, sporting new white uniforms, defeated Capon Bridge high passers, 41-27, in a Potomac Valley Conference game here today.

George Stump, Dick Harmon and Junior Hamilton accounted for all but three of the Pioneers' points with Stump and Harmon each caging fourteen and Hamilton ten. J. Sirk, Capon Bridge center, made nine points with seven of them coming at the foul stripe where he made good on every one of his tosses.

Romney led 14-10 at the quarter, 29-13 at the half and 36-18 at the close of the third stanza. The line-ups:

Durocher Isn't Receptive to Idea He Play Shortstop

Rickey Must Think I'm 20 Years Younger, Says Dodger Pilot

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 23 (P)—Leo Durocher took note today of Branch Rickey's suggestion that he get in shape to return to the Dodger lineup if baseball player shortages make it necessary, and decided that the Brooklyn front man was talking about some other guy.

"Mr. Rickey must have been thinking of the Durocher of twenty years ago or thereabouts—when I was playing ball," the Brooklyn manager asserted.

Durocher was obviously not receptive to the idea and dismissed it shortly.

It has been some time since he gave up tooling at the shortstop position and began directing Dodger strategy from the bench. He indicated that if it is left to him, he will continue to watch nine other fellows perform.

But Rickey, in his recent statement, brought out that lack of playing talent may become so serious that drastic steps will be necessary to field a team and Durocher conceded that he had a point.

"If it comes to that," he admitted reluctantly, "I suppose we old birds will just have to do the best we can."

Durocher has been spending several weeks in this section, dividing his time between army camp appearances and sunning himself on the beach. He plans to leave tomorrow for Brooklyn, where he will participate in a war bond rally, then head for the Dodgers' spring training camp at Bear Mountain.

Bainbridge Trims Navy Quint, 62-44

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 23 (P)—Overcoming Navy's 5-0 lead after the first four minutes of play, the Bainbridge naval training station basketball team went on a scoring spree today to hand the Middlesex their worst setback of the season, 62-44.

Bainbridge Center Johnny Norlander, the Free State's leading scorer, knotted the count at 7-7 on a field goal to put the Commodore on the road to their twenty-first win of the year and Bainbridge forged into a halftime advantage of 32-24.

The Middle squad, which played smoothly during the first half, went to pieces in the second period. Commodore Guard Don Durdan and Forward Ken Corley took advantage of the Navy's misuses to lead an attack which garnered thirty additional points before the final gun.

Norlander brought his season's scoring total to 379 on four field goals and four foul shots but Corley took individual scoring honors, collecting sixteen points on eight field goals.

Navy's defeat was the third of the 1944 campaign. It had previously lost to North Carolina pre-flight and the University of Pennsylvania.

Community Center

The Women's Society of Christ and the Church, Methodist church, set March 1 for re-dedicating the community center. Plans were formulated at the meeting Wednesday afternoon and members will work from 10 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Plans were also made to hold the birthday party March 22 in the form of a meeting for all members with each donating a penny for each year of her life.

The worship service was conducted by Mrs. Foster Smith. Mrs. L. Daniels gave a talk on "The Church's Response to Wartime Emergencies." Mrs. Merle Reck gave a summary of "The Lord's Song in a Strange Land."

Following the session a display of Red Cross work was held. It included four laprobes, twenty-four cushion covers, seven pairs of slipper covers, twelve pairs of knee covers, twelve pairs of tray covers, and three pairs of gloves.

Three Airwave Artists Will Be Program Guests

Agnes Moorehead Will Have Lead in Dramatic Mystery

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD
NEW YORK, Feb. 23. (AP)—At least three of the regular broadcast artists are going to turn themselves into guest artists for Thursday night broadcasting and appear in programs other than their own. Taking them in order, Paul Winchell, ventriloquist, and his Jerry, who have a Monday night series on MBS, are to show up in the Major Bowes broadcast on CBS at 9. This is the show in which they appeared as amateurs six years ago or so. Then there's Eddie Cantor, who has promised Joan Davis he will help her broadcast on NBC at 9:30 after doing his own Wednesday night show on the same network. Return Visit

At this same time on CBS Ginny Simms, of the Tuesday night NBC schedule, is to appear with Dinah Shore's show in a return for the visit Dinah had paid to her broadcast. Also Agnes Moorehead, formerly exclusively of the radio, who has added movies to her accomplishments, will be in the CBS Suspense at 8 to do a dramatic mystery, "Sorry, Wrong Number," all about a neurotic married woman and her fears. Question before Town meeting on the BLUE at 8:30 is to be "Is a World Federation Government Desirable and Possible Now?" Ely Culbertson will take the affirmative, while opposed will be John T. Flynn.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

BUSINESS DOUBLES PAY
THERE IS one best way to score more points than the dealer dealt your side in the cards. That is by making a business double of an opponent's bid if you get a good chance to do it. Of course, sometimes the double will chase him or his partner into some other declaration which you can't damage much. But much of the time he either will be unable to do that, having no other declaration in sight, or else just simply doesn't do it if he can.

three tricks, giving North and South 800 points.
In the middle came the various No Trump declarers, who reached their contract either the way it was done at Table 1 or the way the Table 4 people got there. Nearly all of those made either one or two extra tricks. Counting the Vulnerable game bonus of 500 points, they scored from 650 to 860 points.

The worst North-South score came where East knew enough to pull himself out of the hole in which he found himself when doubled at 1-Diamond, by bidding 1-Spade, but North didn't realize the difference between "sitting under" the declarer with four trumps and "sitting over" him with five, as South did when the diamonds got doubled. North's double of 1-Spade resulted in a two-trick set for a score of only 500 points, giving his pair bottom and East-West a top.

Those were the bidding sequences at all tables of a duplicate game. The best score for any North-South pair was at Table 2, where 1-Diamond doubled got set.

Suit for Sale Of Real Estate Filed in Court

Administrator Says Disposal of Property Is Needed to Pay Debts

Suit for the sale of real estate to enable payment of the debts of the late Mrs. Mary W. Robertson, of Midland, was filed yesterday in circuit court by George Elchorn, administrator of her estate, against her son, William Robertson, whose address now is unknown.

Her will, however, Elchorn states, made no mention of real estate she owned on Main street in Midland at the time of her death. He adds that her personal estate was not sufficient to pay her debts and the costs of administration and says any deficiency in the personal estate should be supplied by the sale of the real estate.

Two Met Death In Auto Mishaps During January

Cumberland Reports First Motor Fatality in 16 1-2 Months

Two persons were killed and twelve were injured in fourteen motor vehicle accidents in Allegany county during the month of January, according to the monthly report issued by the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

One of the fatalities charged to Cumberland was the first recorded here in sixteen and a half months and occurred January 19 when a fourteen-year-old boy died in Allegany hospital from injuries suffered when the sled he was riding crashed against the side of an automobile on Cole street.

This was the first fatal automobile accident reported within Cumberland since August 30, 1942, when a train struck a passenger car on the Pear street crossing causing the death of a 28-year-old Valley road man.

The second fatality for last month occurred on the Oldtown road four miles from Paw Paw where a Pekin man died when the car he was driving skidded on a patch of ice and overturned.

No fatalities were reported in January, 1943.

The state's traffic death toll for last month was twenty-nine. A total of 1,166 accidents were reported and 576 persons were injured. Eleven of the deaths occurred on rural highways of the state.

The commission points out that there is approximately another month and a half of extremely hazardous weather facing motorists, with icy roads, short daylight hours, frequent fog, rain and snow, and closed cars with the danger of carbon monoxide gas seeping into the car causing drowsiness. Coupled with these hazards is one that is increasing day by day; that is, the aging of all cars with no prospects of replacements in the immediate future.

William Nail Appeals 90-Day Jail Sentence

William H. Nail, 29, of near Flintstone, filed an appeal yesterday for a hearing in the April term of circuit court after he was sentenced to ninety days in the county jail on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Charges were preferred before Magistrate Frank A. Perdew in trial magistrates court by Paul M. Fletcher, assistant state's attorney.

Nail was arrested by state police after he allegedly shot a beer bottle from his mother's hand with a high powered rifle during an early morning party at their home on Polish mountain.

Attend Square Dance
According to testimony in the case, Nail, his father, mother and sister attended a square dance at Flintstone.

After each drank several bottles of beer, Nail bought a case of beer and the group went home. Both Nail and his sister testified that the mother became violent after they reached home.

The daughter said she scuffled with her mother who was, she said, "pretty drunk" after the mother obtained a high powered rifle. Nail came into the room and took the rifle from his mother.

While Nail was standing near the doorway, the mother allegedly went to the kitchen and from there threw a beer bottle at her son. Nail testified he ducked and fired at the bottle.

Injures Mother's Hand
His mother was poised to throw the second bottle when her son shot the second time. The bullet shattered the bottle and struck Mrs. Nail's hand.

The ex-soldier went to the top of Polish mountain after the shooting and phoned the LaVale barracks of the Maryland State Police, informing them there had been a "shooting" and that he would wait for the officers.

Julius E. Schindler was attorney for the defense.
